General Non-Fellowship Letter

Dear to whom it may concern,

I send this letter to you in a time when I cannot be fully certain as to whether I should pray it finds you in amiable circumstances, for our lack of fellowship and the hour of the current dispensation makes it impossible for me to discern of which group of people you are from this distance. It is for this reason (and several others, principally being my need to sanctify for the holy days that were near approaching when I received the original command) that I send this letter as a general response to prevent any detraction from kingdom assignments in a harvest field few are truly willing to labor in. It is not my desire to seem unfriendly or indisposed to hospitality, rather to provide an official statement for all those who approach the church wishing to speak to me on social terms.

The reason is simply this, my commitment, devotion and focus is now completely toward the church (and has been for some time now). I am not your pastor so I do not feel obligated to explain fully what that means, yet I do feel a burden to clarify through a more layman's description of the statement. I am only committed to those souls who are repentant in deed such that the fruit of the Spirit yields consistent and ever-increasing manifestations of their fidelity to Christ alone. Not form. Not fashion. Not religion. Not self-validation. Christ. The Word. Those manifestations are plainly described in the Bible and those who truly seek after the Truth will display them in this realm without ever needing to look them up for the manifestation will be a result of their nature and not a result of personal effort. I hope I'm not speaking too deeply, but, in the plainest way I can say it, I have no intention on fellowship with those who are not true Christians until they are willing to repent into that image, regardless of that cost. To those who say they are true Christians, I say prove it, for we live in a dispensation where the grand majority of every person I know and have met who makes such a claim refuses to walk in what such an image calls for. Until such proof is made evident or until after the soon coming storm has passed (if both I and they are still here), one's profession of faith is meaningless to me.

I did not come to these conclusions and positions overnight. The Most High has allowed me to labor for Him in various places around the world and it is plain that “Christianity” is mainly a culture that claims the name of my God, but denies His power through their hypocrisy and accepts the counterfeit displays given by the one they are supposed to be totally opposed to. Furthermore, most people who think or say that they are not in such a group, are the majority of that culture's population. The small remaining population are the leadership who know very well the hypocrisy of their satanic doctrine and perpetuate it, not in ignorance, but knowingly either because of their own selfish desires or allegiance to the father of lies. This has led to a terrible, deceitful spirit being invited into the sacred places of so many with not so much as a fight (what's worse, I have heard them call him the Holy Spirit...). And because we are here now and the reality is that many people will die in the ignorance of this false doctrine because they've been steeped in it so long that they actively oppose the Truth as if He is the enemy, I have no intention of changing my mind.

All that being said, I hope you have grown spiritually such that you can hear and understand the voice of the Most High clearly and regularly. Those are the only ones who have any hope at all. If not, I hope you repent even if you don't get to that level of spiritual maturity before you meet the concrete of judgment fast approaching.

If you are interested in bearing the proof and marks that I spoke of, I invite you to join us on that journey, I engage in frequent communications of those who have grown to FM Station Co-Teen and higher. This is done by becoming a member and committing yourself to true spiritual growth. In all seriousness, because we as a church have found and operate in submission to the One who is Truth, Satan fights us with an intensity most would not believe. I have devils to slay, pierce and crush in a dispensation where they are on the loose and running freely in almost every place in an effort to complete the final touches on the preparations for the final short season of their “king”. For that reason, I simply don't have time to “catch up”.

May the Most High be edified and glorified in the preservation and position of His children,

Pst. Femi J. Ariya
